To Whom it May Concern,

Armand du Parc Locmaria did outstanding work within Weights & Biases during his Machine Learning Engineering internship from April 2021 to January 2022. As his direct manager, it was always a pleasure to work with Armand on the various projects he completed. He was always diligent, friendly and hard-working within his role here.

His projects always garnered lots of praise and attention within the company because they were interesting and executed to a very high quality. He has a great ability to work through difficulties on his own, update stakeholders and output consistently when working on his projects. I would highly recommend Armand to be considered for a Machine Learning Engineering position.

Kind Regards,
Scott Condron
